Description

Imagine it's late afternoon, the golden hour light spilling across your massive 468 m<sup>2</sup> average private garden, the scent of lavender and wild thyme drifting in from the nearby Mata Nacional forest. If you're searching for a sustainable detached 4-bedroom villa in Barão de São João that effortlessly blends off-grid luxury with family-sized space, this 185 m<sup>2</sup> sanctuary on a 628 m<sup>2</sup> average plot changes everything.

The Heart of the Home

Run your hands over the solid cement-look countertops and the warm Ash Oak wooden cupboards in your TEKA-equipped kitchen. Your bare feet will appreciate the AMORIM WICANDERS floating oak floors, while the passive stack ventilation and breathable lime-painted walls keep the indoor air crisp, dry, and perfectly temperate.

Sanctuary & Silence

With four bedrooms and three equipped bathrooms, family morning routines are serene. The bathrooms feature large ceramic tiles with a grounding, natural stone look. Meanwhile, the GEALAN double-glazed windows wrap your living spaces in silence, boasting roughly 50 dB of acoustic reduction to ensure total peace.

The Off-Grid Luxury Lifestyle

This isn't just an eco-friendly family home near Lagos; it's a curated lifestyle. After a dip in your private plunge pool, you can wander through the community's food forest or take the kids to the natural playscape made of massive tree trunks. Craving the ocean? The iconic cliffs of Praia do Camilo and the surf at Praia da Luz are just a 15-minute drive away.
